REMARKS

The office action of September 16, 1999, has been carefully reviewed and this paper is responsive thereto.

As to the objection to the Declaration, Applicants acknowledge the Examiners concern. However, Mr. Ordish has since past away and is, therefore, unable to re-execute the declaration. Applicants submit that the post office address of Mr. Ordish should be considered the same as his residence for the purposes of the original declaration. If the Examiner requests Applicants to supply a new declaration from his estate, Applicants will attempt to do so to the extent possible.

As to the objection of the drawings, Applicants submit herewith a separate proposed drawing correction.

As to the objection to the specification, Applicants have amended the specification to overcome the objections.

As to the rejection of the claims 12-28 over Shavit et al., Wagner, or Silverman in view of an obvious need, Applicants traverse.

Claim 12 recites, inter alia:

negotiable values ... ;

a second display portion for displaying said input of
negotiable values ... .”

Shavit et al., Wagner, and Silverman fail to teach or suggest these two display portions, with one displaying input of non-negotiable values and the other displaying input of negotiable values. While user interfaces exist for trading systems (for example, as shown in Figure 19 of Wagner), the mere existence of these interfaces does not teach or suggest the above-identified display portions. To this end, Applicants respectfully submit that the above-identified references fail to teach or suggest the invention as claimed in claim 12. The other claims are believed allowable for at least these reasons.

Applicant submits all claims are now allowable. If any questions remain, the Examiner is invited to contact the undersigned to further prosecution.

Respectfully submitted,

By:
